Public Opinion On Today's News

Just about the time the public is inclined to see some of the restrictions lifted that will permit labor from the foreign shores some politician hobbles up to make capital out of it in the interest of the labor unions, for it must be remembered that the labor unions are responsible for the present law that bars foreign labor. This time our Senator, Frank B. Willis, in a speech at Louisville opposed the lifting of the restrictions that manufacturers and most farmers are now demanding to ease the labor situation in this country. The Senator would have you believe that some are placing the dollar mark over citizenship. Well, we take the view that Senator Willis is placing the labor union vote over either the dollar mark or citizenship. The labor unions want a scarcity of labor, that means higher wages, much higher than at present, and in the large industrial centers manufacturers are paying the war-time scale. Mr. Farmer with prices of his crops at the bottom cannot meet the situation. The only solution to the situation is to lift the bars for a time and let foreign labor come to our shores.

The press this week gives an account of the labor situation in the south. Government statistics show that 32,000 colored laborers left the state of Georgia in 1922 to locate in the Northern industrial centers where wages are more than double what they are in the South. The Southern farmer, and particularly the cotton grower looks on this condition with some alarm. It is predicted that with the cotton well and labor shortage in the South, the cotton crop for this year will be greatly reduced. We had first hand information on this point Monday while in Cincinnati. At the Grand Central station were two cars of Southern colored laborers that were bound for a northern industrial city in this state. We were told that probably a dozen cars of colored citizens pass through Cincinnati a week for northern cities. While the Ohio farmer is having his trouble with labor the Southern farmer must face the future with some concern.

Gov. Donahy is the champion well-wisher of the veto in Ohio. At this time he has killed by his veto around 70 bills passed by the legislature. While some of the laws he vetoed may have some value yet it must be admitted that most of them were useless. From a political standpoint we believe that it will be foolhardy for the Republican legislature in session to attempt to pass many of them over the Governor's veto. To do so would only be placing ammunition in the hands of the governor. Ninety per cent of the members of the legislature not only in this state but in others are out of place in such a body. They have been elected for some one particular thing. That's the reason we have the kind of legislation that is forced on us. And then we all emit complaint and growl over the cost of our government.

In scanning the state papers as well as exchanges of this section we find the school boards of the state between two fires just at present. On the one hand the legislature has seen fit at a session some two years ago to set salaries of teachers. This was then compulsory on the part of the boards. Some of the school districts had a tax duplicate that would stand such a drain others had not. Then comes the transportation of pupils. This was mandatory. Where the money was to come from evidently did not concern the wise men in the legislature. The state department of education was given certain powers and he proceeds to order a teacher here and there. A new building could not be erected without meeting state requirements. Along comes a bill that changed the school age of children which forced thousands of children in employment back to school. This meant more

Sees Rural America a Great Community Farm

Mrs. W. C. Martin, of Boyne County, Texas, known as "The Community Builder of the South," has vision of rural America as a great community farm and along the same general lines as those employed in community development throughout the South. Cave Springs, Tex., is the best example of community development. In two years it changed from a deserted post office on a mud road to a prosperous village in the center of the rich Salina Bottoms. Pictures show Mrs. Martin who worked out the ideas at Cave Springs. The Community house built there, and the type of bungalows in which all residents now live.

teachers, the need of more books. It was fine thing for the school interests that have a strangled hold on the taxpayer's pocketbook. All of this may or may not be good for the future citizenship of the country. It has since been discovered that most of the boys and girls at 17 and 18 years of age who are in classes where the pupils have been regular in attendance and only twelve or fourteen, has been had for most schools. Now the boards are deeply in debt. Tax limitations have tied their hands. One authority forces the expenditure of money and another checks it. On some of the requirements boards are subject to a fine for failure to recognize the law.

With all these demands for the new things and no money the boards could only borrow money to keep out of jail. If the coal miners and the operators jugged the coal situation and the price of coal went soaring, all the boards could do was to borrow money and pile up the debt to pay the bills. Only ten years ago the school debt in the state was $200,000. Today it is placed at $800,000,000. But the boards now face a new order on borrowing. The state banking department has ordered banks to refuse further loans to school boards. To meet this order a number of schools have been forced to close much earlier than usual, notably the Bowersville centralized school where the board was swamped with debt and could not borrow longer.

The public has always been liberal toward requests for school funds feeling that even though much of the money was "wasted," yet it was for the advancement of education. But there is now to be a turning point and where the roads to end no one really knows. With all the money that is spent on education little goes to vocational training—where boys and girls could be taught a trade if there was little chance of taking up a profession. That's the reason we have a scarcity of carpenters, mechanics, printers and apprentices for the other trades. An effort has been made to teach agriculture in the public schools. All this is a mere joke particularly in the city schools where the average teacher would not know the difference between a water melon and a green pumpkin from outside appearance.

KILLS WIFE; INJURES HER DAUGHTER THEN KILLS SELF

Elmer Dixon, 47, colored, Indianapolis, came to Xenia Saturday night to locate his wife that had left him some days previous. He succeeded in finding her at the home of Nettie Gird South Detroit street. Failing to induce the wife to return with him he drew a revolver and shot her. A daughter of the dead woman, Wilda Prater, Indianapolis, 26, endeavored to protect her mother and was seriously injured but it is thought that she will recover. Dixon then turned the gun on himself and died instantly. Coroner R. L. Haines was called and upon the investigation it was found that Dixon had been drinking and from a note in his pocket it was taken that he came to Xenia to take the life of the woman claimed as his wife. The woman and daughter left Indianapolis and came to Xenia to escape his brutal treatment.

VEOTES RE-APPRAISEMENT LAW PASSED BY LEGISLATURE

Gov. Donahy has vetoed the McDonald bill that if it became a law would compel a reappraisal of all real estate in Ohio in 1924 and every eight years thereafter. For the past few years the State Tax Commission has endeavored to compel a reappraisal in this county but Auditor Wend has recommended to the commissioners that such was not necessary under present conditions and the commissioners have never provided funds to carry on the work. It would cost the county many thousands of dollars to make another reappraisal. Landowners and property owners have also opposed a change in valuations now.

News Notes Over County

Mrs. William M. Mason, Xenia, has been elected one of the vice presidents-general in the National organization of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The convention was held recently at Washington, D. C. The contest for president of the organization was heated but the party was called in. Various changes were made and the ladies of the organization evidently has in mind the spirit of '76 which made their ancestors famous.

Sheriff Morris had to fish a jug of liquor out of a well in a raid on a farm near Xenia last Friday afternoon. An attempt was made to destroy the evidence. H. Berske's place was placed in full operation. A 25 gallon still was in full operation.

umbus, president of the Democratic political club, gave to address to the Osborn graduation class Tuesday. This subject was "Honor Thy Father and Thy Mother and Thy Teacher."

Louis Vandervoort, 20, serving a life sentence in the pen for the murder of Officer McCreight of Wilmington, will be brought to Xenia to testify in the $25,000 damage suit brought against him by Mrs. Mary Matthews wife of a Xenia policeman, whom she alleges, was killed by Vandervoort. Vandervoort is from a wealthy family in this county. The trial is set for May 2.

Yellow Springs will have a new high school. The building will be erected a site given by John Bryan several years ago. It is the old Neff site formerly used for a home for aged Methodists. The new structure will cost about $50,000.

Miss Thelma Flannery will represent Xenia in the Springfield pageant where a number of ladies from Ohio cities are contesting for beauty honors. The ladies are guests of the Bancroft hotel and for two weeks the fair sex will have many important social functions in their honor by Springfield society folk. Next week will be a gala one in Springfield. The Merchants Association is active in the pageant and special inducements are offered out of town shoppers.

The last sad rites for the now defunct Xenia Chamber of Commerce, will take place at the coming sale of the furniture and office fixtures used by the organization which at one time was quite active in that city. The proceeds of the sale goes to the Social Service League. At one time the organization employed a high priced imported secretary. About the only difference between the Xenia organization and the Cedarville Community Club is that the former left an estate composed of liabilities while the latter died owing no one.

Mrs. Margaret Barton, Xenia, will assume the management of the Elks dining room in that city May 7th. Mrs. Barton has had much experience in management of boarding houses. The Elks' dining room is the only open dining room in the city and the service in the past has been excellent.

EQUIP THE CATTLE TO SCRATCH THEMSELVES

A "rubbing pole," Ohio stockmen find, helps make cattle happier, fatter, and more profitable. All there is to it is a pole covered with gunny sack soaked in crude oil, fastened horizontally so that cattle can rub under it to scratch their necks and backs. Cattle lice are mainly at the neck. By aid of the pole stock can kill many of these pests. Also, they can rub oxen warbles out of their backs.

The Great American Housewife

Every now and then some enterprising journal figures out the value to the nation of the great American hen. Again we learn how much we owe to the Iowa hog or we burst into melodious song over the virtues of some insect. Maybe we timidly venture the suggestion that it is time we gave a little thought of the value to the nation of the great American housewife. We dare not let fancy roam into the field of her sacrifice, her unending love, her mothering of the nation, for we would never conclude this writing, but we do not hesitate to say that her actual contribution to the nation's wealth is worthy of consideration.

There were approximately twenty millions of housewives in this country in 1920. Undoubtedly that number has increased. What was the housewives' contribution to the national income worth on the average? As much as the average pay of domestic servants? May we say $500 before the war and proportionately more than that after the wages of domestic servants rose? Based on this ratio we find that in relation to wages paid for manual labor the housewives of America who in group formation seem so rarely to be considered contributed to the national income eighteen and one-half billions of dollars. Perhaps these women be visualized in terms of money value we may gain for them more respectful attention. Silent, patient guardian of the home, the housewife grinds out her weary day, gently and unostentatiously shaping the destiny of the nation, and as we view the nation she seems to have made a pretty good job of it up to date.

The Test of Good Management

Buried in dry statistics of the Department of Commerce lie facts in connection with the packing industry that may bring pause to those disposed to hasty criticism. While the whole story of this industry is not told sufficient facts are disclosed to show that the packers have not had such a rosy time during the year 1921. It appears that the value of the products of wholesale slaughterers amounted to $2,200,942,000 in 1921 as compared with $4,246,291,000 for the year 1919, a decrease of 46 per cent. True the business increased 33 per cent over the seven year period, but a sudden slump in one year of approximately $2,000,000,000 presents a financial and economic problem of sufficient proportion to throw the best managed business in the world out of gear.

It is a remarkable tribute to the management of the packing industry that the gigantic drop in the volume of business did not bring about impossible conditions in the retail market. Our wives may have complained of rising prices, perhaps at times they may have been justified, but they received the protection of some very able business brains remains undisputed.

The packers have been under heavy fire, but fair play is a jewel, and while this newspaper fighting always in the public interest is ever ready to throw the light of publicity on conditions when they appear to be vicious, it is equally fearless and equally pleased to offer a word of praise when it is so obviously deserved, as it is in this case.

How About $14,310,200,000

While the New York slickers are busy trying to steal a few hundred thousand dollars from one another calling the accomplishment a day of good business, while the Broadway lounge lizards are cluttering the streets of our cities and boring us with their silly chatter, the great American farmer comes along with a production of goods worth $14,310,200,000 for the year 1922. When one thinks of this accomplishment in terms of service to America, everything else vanishes from view.

The crops harvested during the year were worth $8,961,000,000, while the value of farm animals and animal products footed up to $5,349,200,000.

The outlook for 1923 is even brighter.

The spending power of country America almost staggers the imagination even as it is, and with a steady growth in sight.

The year 1922 shows an increase of nearly $2,000,000,000 over 1921. What the increase for 1923 will be is speculative.

Texas led all the states in 1922 in the value of farm crops and animals, footing up to a value of $1,001,500,000. Iowa came second, and Illinois third.

It is the farmer and the demands of the farmer that keep the manufacturing of the East busy and hold labor at its task.

How important it is that each should understand the problems and ambitions of the other, the farmer and the bricklayer, the mill worker and the farm hand—the real men of America, the sustainers of American life.

On With the Motor Power

Every mile of good roads laid by states, counties, towns and villages has a bearing on the nation's business so far reaching that it would puzzle the mind to follow it to its logical conclusion. Of course, the natural tendency is to look at the benefits that come nearest and soonest to hand, benefits which are indisputable, providing unwise financing of such improvements does not more than offset the good that is bound to be gained.

Reports from all over the country show that interurban freighting is on the increase due to good road building, particularly where the terminal facilities of railroads are congested. This means more motor trucks, more men at work, more money earned, and a consequent greater spending power. Haulage of farm products to shipping stations spells more business for the farmer, and better still makes his marketing more elastic.

The effect is also seen in the great increase of bus transportation in districts where the street car has not shown its nose as yet, bringing business into the small towns. Trade is rapidly increasing, particularly where the merchant has vision to send his message to the outlying districts through the local press.

America today is on the eve of a development in motor trucks, omnibuses, and large and small farm tractors that in point of volume will surpass the development of the railroads.

Some of the railroad men view the situation with a certain feeling of alarm, but there is nothing to fear. It is the same fanciful spectre that haunted the mind of the printer when the typesetting machine came into being. Where one man was at work under the old system there are fifty at work today.

Motor Engine Speeds for 600 Hours

Uncle Sam's Naval Air Service has a new engine which has speeded at a 75-mile per hour clip for 600 continuous hours—long enough to circle the world 2 1/2 times without a stop—a startling new record.

By MRS. HARLAND H. ALLEN

THE RIGHT CORSET

If you still wear one, it is important that you should know the kind of corset you can wear with greatest comfort, and the kind that gives you the best lines.

There are recognized to be nine types of women to be fitted with corsets, and all up-to-date corset-makers now provide for these types. They are: (1) The short, slender figure; (2) The tall, slender figure; (3) The short-waisted figure; (4) The short, heavy figure; (5) The tall, heavy figure; (6) The full-hip figure; (7) The full-bust figure; (8) The swayed back figure; and (9) The normal figure.

Here are a few suggestions as to the kinds of corsets that are best for your build.

If you have a short, slender figure, choose a corset moderately short, light in weight, and with few stays. The same holds for the tall, slender figure, with the added caution that the corset must be long enough over the hips to give an unbroken line. Never wear a corset too tight, as this only makes a slender woman appear more slender.

For the short-waisted figure, the corset should be fitted rather loosely, and worn down on the figure. Be sure that the corset is short enough below the waist line in front.

The short, heavy figure requires a corset with short stays, to prevent "hitching" up when the wearer sits down, thus making her appear shorter-waisted than ever.

If you are tall, inclined to the heavy figure, wear a corset with a very long skirt. Let the length come at the back and sides, however, keeping it short in front. A corset that is too tight on a large woman will cause her to appear to be "all corsets."

The full-hip figure has the same problem, and the corset must be long and well-boned over the hips. Several strong elastic bands are necessary to fasten the corset to hose. Do not wear corset tight in an attempt to reduce size of hips, or termination of the corset will show, giving an ugly line.

For the full-bust figure it is generally more satisfactory to wear low-busted corset and confine the extra flesh in a well-fitting brassiere.

The swayed-back figure takes an ordinary corset, and where the back is very much curved, a small corset-pad is attached to the inside of the corset where needed.

If you have the happy perfect figure, you have only to choose the correct size for your waist, and a comfortable length and weight. A size two inches smaller than your ordinary measurement is the general rule.

PLANT CORN FOR LARGEST YIELDS

Nothing Gained by Seeding Before Conditions of Soil and Atmosphere Are Right.

NEITHER EXTREME DESIRABLE

Greatest Total Growth of Stalk Made From Planting in May or June—Experiments of State Stations Corroborated.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

No gain is made in yield or maturity by planting corn before conditions of soil and atmosphere are right, in the opinion of the United States Department of Agriculture. Corn growers in localities with a long season have observed that early and late plantings of the same variety usually show wide differences in growth and number of days required to reach maturity. In general, corn which is seeded early requires a longer time to come up than that which is planted later. The plants also grow more slowly, are shorter, and bear their ears lower. These are commonly observed effects of the date of planting.

Best Yields From Early Seeding.

Studies recently have been made by the United States Department of Agriculture at the Arlington experimental farm near Washington, D. C., in order to obtain data which would supplement that obtained earlier at the various state experiment stations. Numerous experiments have been conducted by the state agricultural experiment stations to determine the influence of the different dates of planting on corn yields.

The state experiment reviewed indicate that the best yields of grain may be expected from the early seedings and the most rapid development and greatest growth from the later seedings. Neither the extremely early nor the very late plantings are desirable.

The department investigations were directed more to a study of the effects upon growth and development than to determining the most desirable date of planting from the standpoint of yield. The results of these studies, which extended over a five-year period, are presented in Department Bulletin No. 1014, Effect of Date of Seeding on Germination, Growth, and Development of Corn, by E. B. Brown and H. S. Garrison, which may be had upon application to the department. The varieties of corn used in the experiments cover a wide range in the length of the growing season required. The data tabulated are limited to the characters that seem to have been consistently affected, although the points studied included the rapidity of germination, the number of days from emergence to ripening, the height of stalks, the number of ears per plant, the average weight of ears, the average yield per plant, and the number of suckers.

In all the experiments the germination of corn increased in rapidity as the date of seeding occurred later. When sown early the short-season northern varieties came up sooner than the varieties from the central and southern states. When sown later the differences in this respect were not usually apparent.

May or June Favored.

The total growth of stalk was greatest from the seedings in June and Plant Corn in May or June for Best Growth and Yield.

May. The total growth was least and rate of growth slowest from the April seedings. Development was more rapid in the later than in the earlier seedings.

The number of ears per stalk, the size of the ear, and the amount of suckering bore no consistent relation to the date of seeding. The pollen-shedding period was longer in plants from the early seedings than in those from the later seedings. Seedings earlier than normal resulted in slight gains in the date of silking.

These experiments corroborate the conclusions of the state experiment stations, that corn may be planted in the vicinity of Washington and other localities with a similar season, any time after May 1, without danger of the seed rotting. The best conditions of soil and atmosphere usually come between May 10 and May 20.

Start Vegetables Early. Hotbeds and cold frames give a chance to start vegetables earlier and gain on the weather and insects.

Sadly Incomplete. A deed dated March 15 1897, recently recorded on Long Island, conveys "the Valentine farm on the high-lands leading from Jamaica to Great Neck on the Jericho turnpike, thence to the highway leading from Little Plains to Rocky Hill, including the buildings, orchards, gardens, meadows, commons, seedlings, trees, woods, paths, water and water courses," but gives no other description of the property or any indication of its size, and nobody knows what it is.

ISOLATION

The doctrine of isolation is being preached by politicians, but not by statesmen. They misinterpret and give a wrong construction to the utterances of Mr. Washington, in which he advised that America in her inception avoid entangling herself with foreign alliances.

The reason Washington gave that advice was that America was coming out of England, breaking away from the mother country, and could not afford to be involved in European alliances with other countries and thus incur more of the mother's prejudice and anger.

It is absurd to preach such a doctrine today. We are the superior power in the world. We are in the world. We are a part of the world. And we must pay our obligations, discharge our duties, and take our place by the side of the other members that make up the great world governments.

For us to be Pharisaical and to go by on the other side is to receive the contempt of the world. The world is pleading, the world is hungry, the world needs us. America is responsible for the world's condition, which has been produced during the last two or three years. Had America taken her place at the table of the League of Nations, and cast the deciding vote, there would have been as a result, rehabilitation of the world's finances. Peace, progress, and prosperity would exist today instead of chaos and confusion.

Bernhardt's Farewell to America

Just one hour and a quarter before she died in her son's arms at her Paris home, aged seventy-eight, Sarah Bernhardt, the "Divine Sarah," the world's greatest actress, sent this message to America, the land of her many triumphs. "I am deeply touched with the sympathetic interest of my beloved American friends." So ended a great life.

LESSON FOR APRIL 29

RUTH THE FAITHFUL DAUGHTER

LESSON TEXT—Book of Ruth.
GOLDEN TEXT—Thy people shall be my people and thy God my God.—Ruth 1:16.
PRIMARY TOPIC—The Story of Ruth.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Ruth and Naomi.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Ruth's Choice and Its Outcome.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Secret of Ruth's Noble Life.

I. Ruth's Connection With Naomi (Chapter 1:1-15). An account of famine in Bethlehem of Judah, Naomi with her husband and two sons sojourned in the land of Moab. After the death of her husband her two sons married Moabitish women. After a time her sons also died. After the death of her sons Naomi resolved to return to her homeland, having heard that the Lord was upon her for good. When the time came for her to go Ruth and Orpah accompanied her for a distance. This she permitted but determined to place before them frankly the difficulties which would necessarily confront them. It was this frank presentation of the difficulties and her repeated urging them to go back that called forth from Ruth the expression of her noble choice.

II. Ruth's Noble Choice (1:16-18). Much as Naomi loved her daughters-in-law, she would not have them go into this matter blindly. She told them the worst that could come upon them. This principle ought to be carried out by us in all our relations in life. In business the spirit of frankness should be manifest. At home we should deal with each other in the most straightforward way. The same thing should characterize our behavior in the church and society. Note the difficulty which confronted Ruth:

1. No Chance to Marry Again. Naomi told her that she had no more sons for whom she could wait. In that day to be unmarried was the greatest disgrace. Society differed then from now.

2. She Must Renounce Her Gods. Her idolatrous worship could not be carried on in the land where God's people dwelt. This was delicately touched upon when Orpah went back (v. 15). Orpah went back when it was plain there was no chance to get a husband. Now Naomi puts an additional test upon Ruth, that of giving up her religion. Ruth was equal to the occasion. Her mind was fully made up. She was willing to accept as her God the one who was able to produce in his subjects the nobility of character she had observed in Naomi. Naomi's very frankness in dealing with her caused Ruth to be more determined to cast her lot with her. Ruth's position was so definite and unflinching that the very expressions have come down to us in words which "no poetry has out-rivalled, and which has gone through centuries with the music that will not let them be forgotten." She was determined to share Naomi's lot in her home, her lodge, her lot in life, and her grave in death, whatever that would be. To crown it all she would renounce her heathen gods and worship Jehovah.

III. Blessings Which Attended Ruth's Faithfulness. Ruth was never sorry for her choice, because—

1. She Found the True God (1:16). Instead of her heathen gods who were unable to help her she now had a living God, the God of Israel, as her God.

2. She Found Human Friends. (Chapter 2). As she went to glean in the field she was led to the field of Boaz, a man of wealth and grace. The servants of Boaz treated her with consideration. Even Boaz gave instructions for special consideration to be given her.

3. A Good Husband and a Happy Home (3:4). She not only secured a husband, but a man of God who had an abundance of this world's goods.

4. An Honored Place in the Israelitish Nation (4:13-17). Though she had to forsake her own people she became one of a nobler people.

5. She Became a Link in the Chain of Christ's Ancestry (4:18-22 compare Matthew 1:5). The one who fully decides for Christ and gives up all for him shall get a hundred-fold in this life, and in the world to come, eternal life.

Sharing Misfortunes. Some people think that all the world should share their misfortunes, though they do not share in the sufferings of any one else.—A. F. Holmes.

Those Who Mean to Be True. Those who honestly mean to be true contradict themselves more rarely than those who try to be consistent.—O. W. Holmes.

Fearless Minds. Fearless minds climb coneast unto crowns.—Shakespeare.

Where They Were. On inquiring why they made so much noise upstairs, the twins told me that they were just playing "war." Pretty soon the noise ceased, all was still; becoming uneasy at the unusual silence, I went upstairs to investigate; they were powerless to be seen; but after calling several times and asking where they were, a still, small voice from under one of the beds answered: "We didn't tell, but we're somewhere upstairs."—Exchange.

General Manager W. W. Galloway and Supt. Funnelt were in Wellington, Ohio last week inspecting a filtration plant such as is proposed here by J. T. Travers, head of the department having charge of stream pollution in the state. It has been proposed by Mr. Travers that the company install tanks for treatment of the water so that the purified water could be emptied directly into the creek and thus do away with the reservoirs. It has not been definitely settled when such a change will be made but in the meantime the company will make further investigation.

The American Legion, Wallace C. Anderson Post, entertained last Thursday evening in Community hall when lady friends and wives of the members were present. About forty were present. The speaker of the evening was Dr. McChesney who spoke on the "Historical Events that have Happened in March. During the evening refreshments were served.

There have been complaints the past few days that post office lock boxes have not been locked by the owners and that some young folks in quest of sport have been taking the mail out of one box and putting it in another. This is a serious offense in itself and those who have been doing it are taking great chances. Attention is also called to the fact that half or more of the post office lock boxes are never locked by the owners. Such pranks could not be played if all will lock their boxes.

"It was the best program that has been presented in the South Charleston High School in a long time." "I haven't laughed so much for months as I did during that program. "That was a splendid program. Be sure to come next year."

What program is it? That presented by the Rangers Club of Cedarville College. You, too, ought to hear it! It is a sure cure for the blues. You will have a chance to hear the Rangers at the Cedarville opera house, Monday evening, May 2. Look for program in next week's Herald.

Remember that Tuesday is the final day for making your tax return. All returns must be in by that time.

Edward Lloyd Jones Says

BE A PATHFINDER

CULTURE often makes cowards of the best of men. It tends to blind their thoughts to the triumphs of the past rather than to the possible achievements of the future. It makes them slaves to established codes. It throws a cloud of suspicion over innovation. It makes them afraid of a new idea.

They were the scholars of Athens who fed Socrates poison. They were the scholars of Italy who lit the fuses at the feet of Savonarola. The wise men of Spain jeered at Columbus. Cultured England laughed at Darwin. Schooled scientists scoffed at Harvey's theory of blood circulation, at Watt's tea kettle engine, at Whitney's machine that could sew, at Languette's sun picture, at Wells' anesthetics, at Morse's telegraph, at Bell's telephone and at Edison's talking machine. A quarter of a century ago a professor of physics at the University of California "proved absolutely" that it was a physical impossibility for man to fly. But the Wright boys showed that this professor was a slave to his culture.

Every great triumph in the world's history has fought its way over the boundaries of temporary failure and gained its goal in spite of the scoffs of the "cultured."

Society's pet is seldom a prophet. True talent is discovered tardily. To possess all its accumulated knowledge of the past does not make a man great. We are measured not by our accumulations but by our contributions. The brains that are remembered are those which had not knowledge but the patience and the confidence to pursue unabated a great plan or purpose and create knowledge.

Because a fellow is doing something different from what has been done, don't be too quick to call him crazy. Time may make you the bigger fool of the two for having rejected his idea before understanding it.

It's the fellow who sails a new sea who discovers a new shore. It is the fellow with originality whom the world most needs.

If a man's faith in his new scheme can stand the acid test of the unthinking sneer, he may live to benefit the world. The fellow who is afraid to depart from convention, and who is afraid to do something different for fear he may be laughed at, is a craven no matter how much he may know.

The men and women who acquire knowledge that they may be respectable, who look to the past that they may be comfortable in the present, without any thought of duty to the future, who study merely for the mental gymnastics of training their minds and who are afraid to use the mind when trained, are about as effective as an army which has learned to march by marking time.

Learn not only to fill your head but to use your head. Don't be afraid to beat out a new path. The beaten paths are overcrowded.

The pioneer's path is always hard but it is the pioneer who finds new fields and new benefits and whom in the end the world most honors.

HONEY PHILOSOPHY For 1923

WE are getting close to the Paint Day and Clean Up season, and soon everyone will be thinking how the house looks. Wonderful how bright and cheerful a coat of paint makes a place, how it increases selling values, how it preserves the wood. What's the matter with the house we really live in and for which we pay no rent! Why not a little paint up and clean up for that? Of course the flappers will attend to the paint up, but a more general survey won't harm any of us. Cheering out thoughts of evil and feelings of animosity, and painting the mind with good cheer and human kindness, patching up the faults we have and starting out in a new mental dress for spring will spell happiness and happiness always means greater prosperity.

poem by UNCLE JOHN

Among the disappointments that accrue to mortal men, there's some that's greater'n others,—jes' the way it's allers been . . . the depths of disappointments is dependent on desires,—when a feller fails to gather in the things he most desires. . . . They're purely unavoidable, as far as I can see, when I figger disappointments that has spent their force on me. . . . And I've tried to bear up under 'em, without an outward sign,—We can't expect the sweetest grapes, unless they trim the vine.

The trouble is, with most of us, we don't control our greed; we're allers thirstin' after things our system doesn't need. . . . So, it's nothin' more than human, nor none the less divine, that I've suffered disappointments in this mundane life of mine!

And I try to think they're blessin's—though it's sometimes hard to do, when I set my heart on somethin' an' I fail to put it through. . . . So, if fewer disappointments is what my soul requires, I do my best to expurgate impossible desires.

COLLEGE NOTES

Hail the joyful wedding bells. Last Tuesday night, April 17th the Y. W. C. A. of the college held a mock wedding at the home of Miss Lucile Johnson. There were fourteen in the bridal party, Lena Hastings and Mabel Strobridge, flower girls; Wilma Arnold and Freda Crowell, ring bearers; Miss Florence Somers, the minister; Miss Hazel Williams, the groom; Miss Pauline Collins, best man; Ruth McPherson, Marjorie McPherson, Elizabeth Gifford and Eloise Davis, brides maids; Lucinda Caskey, maid of honor; Marjorie Wright, the bride; and Florence Smith, the bride's father. Others were Lucile Johnson, the bride's mother; Miss Porter, the groom's father; Marie Meahl, the groom's mother; Miss Brand, the minister's wife; Ruth Shaw, the bride's grandfather; Christina Kyle, the bride's grandmother, and Mary Beam, June Thompson, Hanna Kalp, and Lillian Hopper, as ushers. The wedding supper was a success even if the boys did try to make themselves sick by eating the ice-cream and the cakes. All of the guests came in couples, each couple bearing the name of some couple in Cedarville. The girls all had a good time and some of them made better-looking fellows than can be found around town. The decorations were beautiful. The color scheme was yellow and white. The bride's table was adorned in yellow and white streamers, and a large yellow covered wedding cake held the place of honor in the center of the table.

The grade normal students spent Thursday in Xenia, observing. They visited the McKinley school in the morning and Central school in the afternoon. All reported a full day and a good time.

Mr. Donald Funk spent the weekend with Mr. Hubert Smith, Bowersville.

Both observation classes, those observing in the grades and those observing in the high school went to South Charleston Wednesday to observe the Charleston schools. They are going to take a picnic dinner with them, since this is to be the last observation trip of the year.

LEGAL NOTICE

Sealed bids will be received by the Board of County Commissioners of Greene County, Ohio, at the office of said board of County Commissioners, in the Court House in the City of Xenia, Ohio, until 12 o'clock Noon of the 9th day of May, 1923, for furnishing the necessary labor and materials for the complete construction of about 9240 square yards of street paving on North Main Street in the Village of Cedarville, Ohio, said street having been determined by said Board of County Commissioners to be a continuation of the Jamestown and Springfield Pike, Inter-County Highway No. 472. Said contract includes the construction of storm water sewers and cement curbs and gutters. Bids will be received on brick, wood block, sheet asphalt, asphaltic concrete, asphalt block, bituminous and reinforced concrete. Each bid shall contain the full name of every person or company interested in the same and shall be accompanied by bond to the satisfaction of said Board of County Commissioners, or a certified check upon some Bank of Xenia, Ohio, said bond or check to be in a sum equal to Five (5) per cent of the amount bid, as a guaranty that if the bid is accepted a contract will be entered into and its performance properly secured. Checks of bidders whose bids are rejected will be forthwith returned. The check of the successful bidder will be returned upon execution of contract and securing same as aforesaid, otherwise to be retained by the said Board of County Commissioners. Copies of the survey, plans, profiles, cross-sections, estimates and specifications for such improvement are on file in the office of the said Board of County Commissioners, and copies of the specifications may be obtained from the clerk of said Board of County Commissioners, said specifications being in printed form and containing instructions to bidders together with blank form of bid and other matters of importance to prospective bidders. Bidders are required to use the printed form, which will be furnished on application as above set forth. The right is reserved to reject any and all bids. By order of the Board of County Commissioners of Greene County, Ohio.

By J. Steinfeld, Clerk.
